Health and Beauty

If you are not completely satisfied with the features nature gave you, it is possible to improve on them with a few modern make-up tricks.

First, you must determine the shape of your face: square, triangle, round or diamond. Next you must learn to adapt your hair style and application of make-up to play-up certain features and play-down others.

A square face will benefit from a side part and a soft fluff to one side of the forehead. Avoid center parts. Blend rouge up, then down and under the jaw line. A wide and not-too-heavy mouth will be flattering.

A heart-shaped face will look best with a fluff of curls below or behind the ears. Keep the line smooth at the temples. Actually, the heart-shaped face can wear almost any hair arrangement. Wear rouge in a wide shallow triangle, high on the cheeks. Avoid lipstick which is too bold in effect.

Get your hair up if your face is round. An up-on-one-side curl or roll is good. Avoid any circular effects. Blend rouge down and under the jaw line to make the face seem more oval. Try for wide curved lips.

The diamond-shaped face should be widened at both chin and forehead. Wide, fluffy bangs and curls below the ears are good. Rouge should be used on the outer cheekbone area. The mouth should not appear too wide.

FOUNDERS DAY

Farmville, Va.- Plans for the seventy-third annual Founder's Day program to be held March 23, at Longwood College are now complete. Principle speaker for the occasion will be Miss Mary Douglas Finch. Her topic will be "Insights Gained in Living Abroad."

Miss Finch has just returned returned from nine years of teaching in Kobe, and Hiroshima, Japan.

During World War II she taught religious education to Japanese-Americans interned in Orizona.

Before the address, the Farmville Alumnae Chapter will act as hostess at a coffee to be given in the Alumnae house from 9:15 to 10:- 15 A. M.

Appomattox Red Cross Chapter asks your support in the current March Fund Drive.

A. H. S. ready to begin baseball practice for spring schedule.

Invite your friends to come to Old Appomattox Court House this year on Tuesday, April 9, to revisit the McLean House.

Molasses Cookies Pass Family Test

Families are perhaps the most critical judges of Mom's baked products, and rightfully so. New baked products are always given a careful test by the family members but this Molasses Cookie recipe is sure to a perfect score from the judges in your home.

To produce delicate textured cakes, flaky pastries and crisp, crunchy cookies is a feather in any homemaker's hat.

Fortunate indeed is the homemaker who uses lard in preparing all her baked products and deep-fat frying recipes.

Lard is not only economical but it also gives the homemaker a helping hand, because, according to Reba Staggs, well known home economist, lard has the greatest shortening value of any cooking fat.

Molasses Cookies

2 cups sifted enriched flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons soda
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup lard
1 cup brown sugar
1 egg, beaten
¼ cup molasses
Granulated sugar

Sift together flour, salt, soda, ginger, and cinnamon. Cream lard and sugar. Beat in egg and molasses. Add sifted dry ingredients to creamed mixture. Shape into balls, using a rounded tablespoon of dough for each. Dip in granulated sugar. Place on a cookie sheet and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 12 to 15 minutes. Yield: 4 dozen cookies.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Veal Blade Steak

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It comes from the blade section and resembles the blade roast except for the thickness. It contains the blade bone and backbone. Fat is interspersed in the meat and covers the outer surface.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. It is cooked slowly by braising. Veal blade steaks cut ⅛ to ¾ inch thick require 45 to 60 minutes for cooking. A steak cut less than ¾ inch thick may be panfried.

New Citizens Will Cast Ballots in Upcoming Election

WASHINGTON, D.C. — On Election Day this year some 300,000 newly-naturalized citizens will be eligible to cast their ballots along with everyone else.

For many who have fled from behind the Iron Curtain or come here from the less developed areas of the world, it will be the first vote in their lives.

In comparison with the native-born American, the newcomer has a long road to travel before he can enter a voting-booth.

What are the current requirements, in general, for becoming a citizen?

First off, an applicant must be at least 18 years old.

Then, each one must live in this country for five years and in a given state for six months before he can file a formal petition for citizenship.

Each applicant must appear for a hearing before an examiner of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service. Two witnesses must be with him to testify that he is of good moral character and otherwise eligible for naturalization.

At that time he takes a brief test to prove that he can understand English and be able to read, write and speak words in ordinary usage unless physically unable to do so.

And he also takes a brief test to demonstrate a knowledge of the history and principles and form of government of this country.

Finally, he must show that he is "attached to the principles of the Constitution of the United States and well disposed to the good order and happiness of the United States."

Most Families Own Life Insurance

NEW YORK — How extensively life insurance has become a part of family financial planning is illustrated by the fact that among families in which both husband and wife are living, 97 percent of the husbands own policies, 73 percent of the wives and, in those with children living at home, all children are insured in more than 60 percent of the cases.

This is shown in a consumer survey made by the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan for the Institute of Life Insurance.

Over half of all "complete families" in the U.S. now have everybody in the family insured: two-thirds have both husband and wife insured.

Today, according to this new survey, 70 of every 100 men, women and children in the country own some form of life insurance; at the turn of the century, only about 13 of every 100 were insured.

Astronomers Training Cameras on Planet Mars

WASHINGTON—During the next few months, astronomers will study the face of Mars in an effort to solve many of the mysteries of the only other planet in the heavens that shows signs of life.

Dr. E. C. Slipher, world-renowned authority on Mars, is in South Africa on the second "Mars Expedition" in three years sponsored by the National Geographic Society and Lowell Observatory of Flagstaff, Arizona.

From at least 20 other points around the world, observatories will carry on a coordinated photographic patrol, keeping watch on Earth's neighboring planet as it swings across the sky in its closest approach since 1941.

On September 10, Mars and Earth will reach "opposition," lining up with the sun. Only 35,300,000 miles apart—little more than a third the distance of the sun from Earth—they will be virtually as close as they ever come.

Judge Lectures on Dove-Tail Hair-Do

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa.—A Franklin County judge took advantage of a parole case hearing to lecture on "dove-tails."

Judge Chauncey M. Depuy, in granting a parole to a 20-year-old inmate who had served two months of a four months sentence, handed down the informal opinion on the latest in male hair fashions.

"You fellows who wear those long sideburns and dove-tail haircuts evidently do it to attract attention," he said, admonishing the youth to "show off in a better way by getting a job and doing a better job than the other fellow."

Not the Skilled

FORT MADISON, Iowa—Men who do creative work with their hands are less likely to wind up in prison, says Percy Lainson, Iowa State Penitentiary warden.

Lainson says about 20 of the 1,300 penitentiary inmates here have been skilled workers and strangely, he says "most of them are in for murder."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Concord, Va., March 19, 1957

Mr. Calvin Robinson,

Dear Sir:

I want to congratulate you for making one of the most inspiring speeches I ever heard at Concord Ruritan Club on Monday night, March 18. I am still thinking of some of the nice things you said of the Virginia people, the Appomattox community and Concord area. It sure makes one feel good to know they have such a warm friend, who can see the small amount of good they are trying to do, when they themselves are doing so much for their communities.

On behalf of the people of Concord, let me thank you for giving of your time and talents, as an ambassador of good will from your town to ours. We need more like you in this great land of opportunity and freedom, to point out to us the brave deeds of our forefathers and our great national heritage. I am sure the people of Appomattox are overjoyed to have such a man as you living in their midst, one who is setting such a wonderful example of Christian fellowship, and love for others.

Sir, I thank you.

NEWS AROUND TOWN

By Mrs. Calvin Robinson

I irked this one:

The young couple had just been transferred to Brazil and in all the moving flurry the wife found one day that she had locked herself in her apartment and couldn't find the key. Although she kept calling the apartment house manager, who kept assuring her that he would be up immediately to let her out to do her errands, she finally had to call her husband at work.

He came home and released her, then looked up the apartment house manager to find out why he had delayed. "But that is your private affair," explained the latter calmly. "If you want to lock up your wife, I won't be the one to let her out." —Quote.

Miss Shawn Mabley, of Christmas Farm, Route 1, Appomattox, has been initiated into the Marquette Players, the student theatrical group at Marquette University, Milkaukee, Wics. Miss Mabley is a freshman at the College of Liberal Arts.

Miss Jackie Poston finished her Bachelor of Science Degree work at Madison College the latter part of January. She made straight A's, which means that she was on the President's List. She made the Dean's list most of the time. At present, Jackie is interning at Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit, Mich, in Dietetics and Institutional Management. Congratulations to Jackie. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Poston, of Amelia, formerly of Appomattox.

The Appomattox Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy will meet this evening in the home of Mrs. Calvin Robinson. Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. G. L. Doss and Mrs. H. G. Johnson will be co-hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs W. E. James, of Dendron stopped by Appomattox recently, en route home after visiting Mrs. James' brother, Frank L. Zimmerman, of Lynchburg, who is recovering from a recent illness.

Mrs. Calvin Robinson, chairman of the Third District, Virginia Division, UDC, spent Saturday last in South Boston, where she was the luncheon guest of Miss Carrie Dickerson, President of the Halifax Chapter. Mrs. Robinson met with a committee to formulate plans for the District Conference to be held there April 26.

Mrs. W. H. Pillow is a patient at the Blue Ridge Sanitorium in Charlottesville. Mr. and Mrs. Roger Pillow and Mrs. C. M. Rush visited her on Saturday. We wish for her a speedy recovery.

Hugh Gurney, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Gurney, of Appomattox, has been named to the Dean's List at Tufts University, it was announced by Dr. Charles E. Stearns, the dean of the College of Liberal Arts. A graduate of Appomattox H. S., Hugh is a sophomore now at Tufts.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Irby, who celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on Saturday, March 16.

Miss DeLois Harper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Harper, of Lynchburg, and Garland Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Johnson, of Appomattox, were married in South Carolina on Saturday, March 16. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will make their home in Lynchburg.

Friends are glad to hear that J. P. Johnson returned to his home here Tuesday of last week, after being a patient in the McGuire Hospital, Richmond, several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Poe moved into their new home on Church Street on Monday.

Mr. Elon Johnson, our next door neighbor, paid us a visit recently, and presented Father Darkleaf with a huge hen egg, weighing nearly five ounces. He is in the egg business on a large scale this year.

In FASHION now

For most of us, the most important single purchase in a new season is either a new suit or a coat. The reason for this is simple—a suit or coat represents quite a large outlay of money.

During a season when a great many of fashion changes are being made, the idea of buying something new is frightening. It is hard to be sure if the trend is going to be a passing one or whether it would be wise to invest in something that at the moment seems noteworthy.

When faced with this problem, it is a good idea to keep in mind that a good change is never violent. Therefore, if the new design or cut is drastic, it would be better to choose something more time-tested. This rule applies even when the new design is becoming, if you must watch your dollars.

From all reports, the fashion business is booming. Women like the new spring styles. The reason may be that they are not startling or over-dramatic. 8The general fashion outlook is pleasing and beautiful and women are allowed a great deal of leeway in their choice. There is a tremendous variety of silhouettes, textures and color.

Classic suit and coat designs do not have to be dull looking because they are that. There is a great need in every woman's wardrobe for the crisp, devoid of detailing, and handsome suit or coat, made of fine fabric.

Contrasting colored heels on shoes are something new this season. The new heel is very slender and is called "Resper heel." One interesting pair of fall shoes is fashioned of calfskin in the classic pump design. Their rapier heels are enclosed in an aluminum casing.

One line of shoes has a removable-type heel and comes with a set of heels in three different colors.
